PROPOSED K-MART SHOPPING CENTER

K-Mart coming if approved!

After many pros and cons having been tossed around for months, it looks like there is a good possibility that there will be a new commercial center, featuring a K-Mart store, built on the north end of Antioch, pending village board approval, following public hearings.

Newly-elected Antioch Mayor Ray Toft, adhering to past complaints of the lack of board and Chamber communication, reported the commercial development's impending arrival to those present at the meeting of the retail committee of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry, on Friday, May 8, at the Dutch Arbor.

Toft also announced that there will be a public informational hearing and discussion on the building of the commercial complex on North Ave. and Rte. 83, at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, May 26, at either the village hall or in the Old Fire Station, depending on attendance.

Representatives of developers Ramco-Gershenson, Inc., Farmington Hills, Mich., approached the Antioch Planning Commission on May 7, with their proposal for the 131,000 square foot complex, to be located on 14½ acres, just south of the Wisconsin border.

The commission heard the proposal and referred it to the village board.

Past objections to the building of the complex were based on the use of industrial revenue bonds, as proposed by the previous village board.

Industrial bonds were not used as an inducement to bring the shopping center to the village.

The complex, cored by the K-Mart Dept. Store, is slated to house a food market, (possibly a Jewel, which has been mentioned in the past), a drug store, (rumored to be Osco, since they are usually partnered with Jewel) and 20,000 square feet for additional specialty shops.

A restaurant and financial institution are also expected to go into the center.

According to the developers, the center would create 150 new jobs in the area, with a minimum payroll of $1.2 million.

Based on a development cost in excess of $5 million, the village would realize a direct real estate tax revenue of $17,000 annually, while the school system, including grade school, high school and junior college, would receive $68,000 annually. In addition, the village would receive a large amount of sales tax benefits.

Laddie Korecek, Antioch Savings and Loan, expressed the fears of many of the present Antioch merchants that they and the downtown area would not have "a fighting chance" competing against the complex if the downtown area was not improved.

Toft said that he hoped not only to maintain, but improve, the present status of the downtown shopping area, adding that he

Hockey leaguers re-start

BY GLORIA DAVIS

The last meeting of the Antioch-Lake Villa Iceless Hockey League, held on Thursday, May 7, was much calmer than the previous chaotic one that was held two weeks ago.

That one had many of those attending involved in all sorts of charges and countercharges and ended with the resignations of the officers being called for, and offered, to the angry coaches and parents present.

Dissension between the officers and other participants in the hockey program threatened to sound the death knell of the league.

According to Frank Walsh, founder of the league nine years ago, a crowd of 75 coaches and parents accepted the resignations of the officers that had been presiding this season.

These resignations, effective after the May 31 awards presentations, came from Earl Gutke, Bob Ferrigan, Tom Hanahan, Dick O'Brien and Don Powell.

This meeting was much quieter than those that had previously found members engaged in bickering and accusations aimed towards the way that the league had been run this season.

Those attending, after a discussion, decided that the league should be run by a

New board's first meeting 'looks lot like Christmas'

by GLORIA DAVIS

An over-capacity crowd, even larger than those that had jammed the Antioch Village Hall during the controversy filled pre-election months, crowded into the municipal building's meeting room on Monday, May 4, to see the official changing of the local guard.

Unlike some of those previous gatherings, the room was full of smiling faces, and the air was filled with thank-you's and permeated by a feeling of expectancy.

With the campaign challenges and arguments packed away for at least another four years, a record crowd was there to see Ray Toft and the newly elected trustees, Claudette Skvarce and Rod White, along with the re-elected trustees, Barney Barnstable and Ron Cunningham, take over the reigns of Antioch's government alongside those already seated on the board.

Outgoing Mayor Mike Haley expressed gratitude for the privilege of serving as mayor, saying that he was leaving office with the secure feeling that the village was being left in capable hands.

After saying that he owed a debt of gratitude to numerous people who had helped him while he was in office, Haley singled out the aid he had received from Village Clerk Marilyn Sterbenz for special thanks.

He then swore Sterbenz in as clerk and she did the same for the new mayor and trustees.

Then it looked like Christmas in May, as the gifts started flying, with Toft presenting Haley with a gift from the village, while thanking him for his help during the transition.

There were gaily wrapped packages for outgoing trustees, Mabel Lou Weber and Don Amundsen, who was absent, as well as the traditional gavel and "keys to the city" for Toft, given by members of his family.

All this political sweetness and light continued for a few hours at least as all present were invited to an afterglow before getting down to the serious business of running the village at next week's committee meeting.

Woman, 70, foils man, 23, during armed robbery try

A display of courage and calm quick-wittedness helped an Antioch drug store owner, who is over 70 years of age, foil the armed drug robbery attempt of a 23-year-old Lake Villa man.

Daniel J. Powers 23, Lake Villa, was arrested by the Antioch Police Dept. and charged with the attempted armed robbery of Reeves Drug Store on Tuesday May 5.

According to Antioch Police Lt. Tom Fisher, at 10 p.m., on that date, just at closing time, Powers approached Ruth Elliot, at Reeves Drug Store, on Main St., in Antioch, and asked for the drug talwin, a morphine derivative.

Elliot referred the man to owner and pharmacist Helen Borovcka, who refused to sell him the drug without a prescription.

Powers then handed her a note that said that he had a 32 caliber pistol in his hand, that was in his pocket. The note also demanded diabetic syringes and three boxes of talwin and warned her against calling for help or making any false moves.

Borovcka, who only read the part of the note that announced that a 32 caliber pistol was pointed at her, again refusing to give Powers the drug without a prescription, headed for the back counter, after whispering to Elliot to call the police.

Powers followed Borovcka while Elliot phoned the Antioch Police Dept., who answered the call in 22 seconds.

Officer Ron Roth, not knowing the nature of the problem, was not seen by Powers as he came up behind him, demanding to know what the trouble was.

Borovcka said, "He wants prescription drugs without a prescription and handed Roth the note."

Roth also just read past the "gun" part of the note and began to scuffle with the robber when Sgt. William Kukla arrived. Both officers cuffed Powers and found the loaded gun in his pocket.

Lt. Fisher arrived on the scene and took statements from those present. The subject was taken to the police station where he made a statement and charges were made.

Antioch charged Powers with armed robbery, a charge that was later changed to attempted armed robbery.

Powers was also charged with the unlawful use of a weapon and non-possession of a gun owner's card.

At present, he is being held in the Lake County Jail under $10,000 bond, pending a hearing this week.

thought that the complex would not hurt the Main, Lake and Orchard St. merchants, but generate more traffic through Antioch.

The complex is aimed at drawing trade from 12 miles north into Wisconsin and 12 miles east and west, but only six miles to the south, because there is already such a complex in Round Lake.

Toft said that the immediate novelty might cause a loss for the other businesses, but added that it might draw more Wisconsin shoppers, who would filtrate into the downtown area.

The shops already on North Ave. are assured of increased traffic.

Toft announced the purchase of a half-acre of land in back of the east side of Main St.

Toft, who said he had been working on this previous to his election to office, said he attributed the drop in price to new ownership.

This purchase is also pending village board approval.

The further development of Park Ave. and Depot St. has also been mentioned by Toft as a means of improving traffic through the village.

A discussion on businesses furnishing parking for their employees to alleviate on-street parking was entered into.

Toft reiterated his promise to work with the present merchants on downtown improvement.

The mayor also said the the necessity of running sewer lines to the complex would allow the lines to be looped with those in Oakwood Knolls and help to solve their storm sewer situation.

trio of coordinators, with two nominations made for each post.

The nominees were Ann Kaiser, Jim Andersen, Bill Truesdale, Ron Rasbid, Don Sukasch and Walsh.

Bill Truesdale, Ron Rasbid and Frank Walsh were elected.

It was decided that those elected would sit down and come up with a set of bylaws, discuss the pros and cons of retaining the controversial charter, and come up with other ideas gained from the coaches on the manner in which the league should proceed.

The resulting conclusions will then be brought before all the coaches, who will then vote on their adoption.

It was also decided that new officers would be elected each year.

In a letter of resignation, whose contents were not agreed to by the other three resigning officers, Ferrigan suggested that all four resigning officers pay the league the $200 that had been spent in the league's incorporation, plus any legal fees incurred if the dissolution of the corporation was decided upon.

Ferrigan also suggested that they pay for an independent audit of the league's books.

The coaches present voted not to accept such payments, with many saying that they thought all that was done had been done in good faith.

Powell reiterated this when he said that the four officers had only done what they thought was in the best interest of the 600 boys involved in the league.

"I think that the three of us can work together," said Walsh, as he also expressed hopes that the boys' league might work with the girls' hockey league in the future.

That league is guided by four people. Walsh said that he thought that seven people might be even a better working number of coordinators.

Another reason for the two leagues joining forces, according to Walsh, might be the increase in uniform and equipment buying power, a move that might lower both leagues' expenditures.

Carole reports House improvement monies available in Lake County

by CAROLE RISKA

The Lake County Regional Planning Commission has mailed a letter containing a short survey asking residents if they would care to participate (if their area qualifies) in a neighborhood rehabilitation program.

There is $3,700,000 available and part of it is targeted for northwestern Lake County.

If you have received this letter and survey, it is important that the survey card be returned as promptly as possible.

The survey card is postage free and does not require that anyone sign or put a personal address on it.

Originally the letter stated that the card had to be returned in one week, as of now officials are acknowledging that as being unrealistic, and they are allowing more time for the survey cards to be returned. But they should be returned as promptly as possible.

This department is in charge of planning, zoning and environmental quality the money is to be used to fix up housing and streets and to improve public facilities.

All the county is requiring is a 50 per cent response, which is required by federal regulations. This response is the minimum that can be considered, of course more would be better.

These grants could be very important to some of the outlying subdivisions, allowing money for projects that otherwise could not be afforded.

The funds also could be important for areas where there is a concentration of low or moderate income citizens.

If you have received one of these letters and you know that your neighbors have too, urge them to return it, and have them contact other neighbors to do the same.

Beth Benoit of Lake County Regional Planning Commission stated that extra time will be allowed for the return of these survey cards, but please, another week to 10 days would be best.

Governor Thompson has declared May 11 to May 17 as "Take a Kid Fishing Week," a great idea, but don't take that kid fishing at Waukegan Harbor.

The Federal Environmental Protection Agency tests showed fish caught there were tainted with PCB at concentrations up to 37 times higher than are allowed.

Absolutely, no one should eat fish taken from Waukegan Harbor.

The harbor bottom was admittedly polluted by OMC over the last 30 years. An estimated 1 million pounds of PCB chemicals were leaked into the harbor. Tests have indicated that PCB is a cancer producing agent.

Letter to the Editor

DOESN'T LIKE OPINION
Editor:

The May 4 "A woman's place" column on sexual harassment is an example of why I will not subscribe to the Antioch News.

What did this article contain, results of court cases or government investigations, an interview with a woman who was harassed or a man accused of harassment?

The article contained one person's opinion. One who evidently did no research, one who is writing from what she's heard here and there.

She excuses cheap male behavior with a "boys will be boys" attitude.

She places responsibility for behavior of men and women on women, as if men were incapable, for one reason or another, of being responsible for themselves.

Only some men, of course. If I were a man, I would resent this attitude about men.

In a culture where women are taught to be nice, and taught to be passive, is it any wonder some women have a hard time telling a man, especially a boss, to keep his hands off and his dirty remarks to himself.

It's easier to give hints than to lay all your cards on the table and have an out-and-out confrontation.

Also, you don't want to embarrass your boss, he could fire you.

And if you're divorced and have kids at home, or you need money from your check to make a mortgage payment, you don't want to embarrass your boss by confronting him.

Maybe some women wish to ignore the situation and hope it will go away because of the attitude expressed in the article, "You got it because you asked for it, so shut up."

I would prefer to see more factual articles in the Antioch News, information I can use.

Book reviews, information on adult education available in the area, interviews with area residents who are in some way outstanding. The possibilities are endless.

Circus coming to town

Looking out, rather puzzled, is Clyde the Camel, just one of the many performing animals with the Franzen Bros. Circus who will appear in Antioch, on June 10.

In addition to Clyde, who will appear with Chico the Llama, in an 'Arabian Fantasy', there will be three ferocious African lions, two Royal Bengal tigers, 12 beautiful Pony of America ponies, eight comical goats, three canine cuties, schooled pick-out horse, a peacock who appears out of nowhere, and of course, Okha the Indian elephant who you'll fall in love with!

Human acts include masters of juggling, unicycle and wire, beautiful girls on the Spanish Web, magical mysteries and hilarious clown acts.

Young job hunters face 'No experience, no job'

by GLORIA DAVIS

Twenty year old Dave Gutowski of Antioch is typical of the many young people in Illinois and Wisconsin, in fact in the entire nation, who are unemployed and facing a future whose job possibilities may not be a bright one.

Gutowski, a graduate of Antioch Community High School, who earned good money in construction until last December, was laid off then because of the usual winter construction doldrums, but because of the recession in the building industry, he was not called back as usual when the weather broke, though he does have some hope that construction will pick-up and he will be able to return to his job as a concrete worker at Benes Construction Co.

He has been looking for a job since last January and says that he still has 10 applications for employment out. He has applied everywhere for a job, with other construction companies; cable tv companies, and even supermarkets and factories, to no avail.

Some of his friends were laid off during the winter, so he did have company, but now most of them have gone back to work.

Like so many, Gutowski faces a job market that either is cutting back on their help or else is hiring only experienced workers.

What will he do if their is no change in his situation? Would he go back to school?

He says that as far as he can see it's experience, not schooling that most employers are looking for.

ACHS HONORS DAY

"Iguana" at PM&L — From left, Lou Jones and Ann Marie Cina rehearse a scene from "Night of the Iguana," to be presented at PM&L Theater, opening May 30.

PM&L's next is 'Night of the Iguana'

Tennessee Williams' "The Night of the Iguana" will be the next play to be seen at the PM&L Theater, 877 Main Street in Antioch.

The show will open there Saturday night, May 30. Subsequent performances are scheduled for Friday and Saturday nights, June 5, 6, 12 and 13. A matinee will also take place on Sunday afternoon, June 7.

The curtain will rise at 8:30 p.m. for the evening shows and 2:30 p.m. for the Sunday matinee.

The afternoon show, a new practice begun in PM&L's current Season 20, is gaining acceptance as a popular new feature of the theater schedule.

It is appreciated especially by the many playgoers who have not found it possible or convenient to attend performances on Friday and Saturday nights.

When it opened in New York, "The Night of the Iguana" was regarded by the drama critic of the New York Times as "Tennessee Williams at the top of his form."

Other reviewers have been comparably laudatory, and the play has delighted appreciative audiences wherever it has been performed.

The story is set in the 1940s, at the less-than-posh Costa Verde Hotel at Puerto Barrio, on the west coast of Mexico.

The cast is peopled by a group of guests who are about as run down as the hotel in which they are staying.

Barbara D. Miller directs the PM&L production. Her cast features Ann Marie Cina, of McHenry, as Maxine Faulk, the manager of the hotel; Lou Jones, Round Lake, as Shannon, a defrocked priest; Tom Hausman, Antioch, as Nonno, an ancient poet; and Kris Ann Miller, Antioch, as Hannah Jelkes, his granddaughter.

Also included in the colorful and gifted cast are: Donna O'Donnell, Lake Villa; Lillian Allen, Trevor; Bob Anderson, Kenosha; Don Beveroth, Paddock Lake; and from Antioch, Bob McKee, David Carlson, Dawn Champly, Tracy Kiederlin and George Blanksten.

Area theatergoers will want to see "The Night of the Iguana," the last and crowning show of PM&L's current season.

To see it, remember to call 395-3055 to make your reservations.

Also, you should be sure to be at the PM&L Theater no later than 8:15 p.m. on the night, or 2:15 p.m. on the afternoon, you plan to see this popular show, representing both Tennessee Williams and PM&L at the top of their respective forms.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

The alarm at the Old Saw Mill shrilled through the daytime quiet in Antioch. The police squads were quick to answer and catch the culprits, Antioch's new mayor, Ray Toft and Lake County Sheriff Tom Brown, who had accidentally tripped the alarm while on a tour of the mill.

With today's smoking scare you would have thought that the Fine Master at last week's Rotary meeting would have had a harder time levying his fines.

The story goes that Fine Master Bill Brooks had Stu Olson demonstrate the use of snuff and the deal was that Brooks would toss 50 cents into the fine fund everytime someone tried the snuff but those who refused to take a "chaw" would pay a dollar.

The dollars were flying fast and furiously but a few brave Rotarians like Dennis Johnson hit Brooks pocketbook.

There's a PM&L thespian in the college news this week. Kieth Boehm will play the Prince to Tania Katz's "Sleeping Beauty," in Barat College's musical children's theater production, tat will run from May 20 through May 25, at the Drake Theater in Lake Forest.

Congrats to Darlene Olsen and Jeff Gebauer who have been named winners in the 1981 Drawing and Design Competition sponsored by the Illinois Institute of Technology.

They were selected over a field of 12,000 contestants out of the Chicagoland area.

Ex-mayor Mike Haley told Lakeland's Political Editor Chris Brenner that he was through with village politics.

But that doesn't mean that Haley is through with politics. He also said that he was waiting for the redistricting that takes place at the county and state level.

Scouts serve success

Cub Scout Pack 80's spaghetti dinner was a great success. The food was absolutely delicious and the Cub Scouts did a fantastic job in serving so many people, said Debbie Campbell, publicity chairman for Cub Scout Pack 80.

We would like to thank the men and Scouts for giving so much of their time and effort in helping us make our 81' spaghetti dinner a dynamic success, said Campbell.

A special thanks must go to Frank Walsh, Joe Samson and Jerry Hassett for spending many hours in the kitchen creating a spaghetti sauce that turned out to be a gourmet's delight, she said.

Dear Bill:

As President Reagan, supported by a majority of the Members of the U. S. Congress; strive to move our country in new directions, it is heartening to learn of your free job wanted ads during the week of May 11th. This generous and responsible action on the part of your important and influential newspapers is consistent with our nation's private enterprise philosophy -- which can and will provide the motivation for a return to a strong national economy. I am convinced, as you are, that jobs in private enterprise are there, waiting for qualified and well motivated job seekers.

President Reagan and his Administration can do little more than help provide the climate for our nation's economic improvement. It requires individual initiative and ingenuity such as that being provided by you and your colleagues at LAKELAND PUBLISHERS to guide us toward increased employment, reduced inflation rates and greater productivity.

I congratulate you and extend to you my fullest cooperation.

Sincerely yours,
Bob McClory

Medical Technology at Work for People

An infant born 50 years ago could expect to live about 58 years. Today, the average life expectancy is more than 73 years. That's real progress—progress that could not be achieved without the resources and technology of medical care companies like Travenol Laboratories, Inc.

Travenol was founded in 1931 on the belief that we could provide a better way in the medical care field. That pioneering belief is still with the company today. Through our efforts to adapt readily to the changing environment, we have been able to develop and produce medical care products that continually have helped save thousands of lives around the world. And that is our challenge for the future—to continue to be at the leading edge of medical technology.

We will meet this challenge by developing and improving products like intravenous solutions and disposable administration sets; artificial kidneys and urological care items; oxygenator systems that take over the function of the heart and lungs during open heart surgery; and blood containers used in the collection, processing, storage and transfusion of blood and blood components.

Making progress in medical technology to help improve and save human lives is what we're here for—and we're here to stay.

Get America Working

... So We Can Get America Going!

We believe it is high time that Americans roll up their sleeves and dig in to dig our nation out of economic stress.

Productive Americans, given the tools provided by private business working within the framework of the free enterprise system, can restore our confidence in the future and regain our stature in the market place.

We subscribe to the American work ethic, pride in accomplishment and the dignity that goes with receiving a paycheck for honest labor and not turning our citizens into faceless end products of a welfare system that encourages idleness.

We heartily endorse governmental reforms that will eliminate unemployment compensation abuses, reduce economically inhibiting high interest rates and enact tax legislation that will lift depressing burdens from all taxpayers. Working together, we can restore our nation to a position of greatness and leadership.
